Inspiration for the Living Room | Low and Grey

It's time for a living room renovation at my parent's mid century modern poolhaus. We ripped up the old green carpet last week, and have been strongly considering concrete floors. The room is long, with two walls of windows, and a long low fireplace. Our color palette is white, grey, and wood (we have a lot of original wood details). These images are perfect inspiration, I hope our end product looks like this.
